Summit Talk Seen In 1959 By President

High-Level Parley On Major Problems Termed Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower apparently believes that a summit conference late this year is a definite possibility.

Such a meeting would bring him and other Western government heads face-to-face with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev for a discussion of critical East-West issues. These undoubtedly would include questions of Germany and of disarmament.

Whether a conference is actually arranged probably will depend partly on whether East-West negotiations in the meantime ease Soviet pressures to get the United States, Britain and France out of West Berlin.

Eisenhower himself brought up the subject of a summit meeting briefly at his news conference Tuesday in discussing a question about the effect of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' illness on prospects for a foreign ministers meeting.

"The President said he thought that Dulles' condition would not delay a foreign ministers conference, but noted that there has been no agreement with the Soviets yet on actually holding such a session. Then he added:

"I believe the Russians themselves are more concerned, Mr. Khrushchev is concerned, in a heads of government meeting, as he calls an informal and without-agenda type.

"Well, that would take a great deal of preparation."

Soviet spokesmen, including Khrushchev and Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan have repeatedly called for a heads of government conference.

Despite the disagreement over the amount of advance preparation needed, informed officials say that a summit conference is indeed a possibility as things now stand.

Diplomats have reported that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan is particularly interested in such a meeting. Macmillan faces the prospect of parliamentary elections within a year.

Hagerty Denies Eisenhower Fears Dulles Career Ended

WASHINGTON (AP) — "That's a cockeyed idea," said James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, Tuesday night when asked about reports President Eisenhower is concerned over the possibility that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles may not be able to resume his duties.

The reports came from Republican congressional sources, after Dulles entered Walter Reed Hospital for a hernia operation and treatment of a recurring intestinal inflammation.

Hagerty also scoffed at other reports that Eisenhower is giving serious consideration to a possible successor to Dulles.

Juke Box Racket?

Probers Hear Hoods 'Push' Some Singers

By G. MILTON KELLY
WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Labor-Management Committee, continuing its probe of the juke box industry today, is looking into evidence that gangsters sometimes try to force certain singers on the public.

Committee counsel Robert F. Kennedy said he expects, before he is through, to produce evidence hoodlums have muscled in on juke box record distributing firms with the idea of pushing these singers.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) has predicted the inquiry will show a sinister combine of top underworld figures and corrupt labor union officials has tried to put the juke box, pinball, and vending machine business in cities from New York to Denver under its iron rule.

Kennedy named among today's witnesses John Vitale of St. Louis; Raymond Palmaria of Providence, R.I.; Frank Zito of Springfield, Ill.; Mike Genovese of Gibsonsia and Pittsburgh, Pa.; and Joe Salardino of Denver.

He also said Charles Lichtman, former president of the Game Machine Union in New York City, has been called to tell the story of "a plot to kill one of his organizers."

The hearing got under way Tuesday with a former official of the Wurlitzer Corp., big juke box manufacturing firm, testifying that as its general sales manager in the 1940s, he had to make deals with gangsters in order to make sales.

Milton Hammergren of Cross Lake, Minn., who has since left the company, testified he and other company officers were upset about having to use underworld characters as distributors "but we had to sell juke boxes."

Rufus King, a consultant to the American Bar Assn. Crime Prevention Committee, testified in ball gambling produces 300 million dollars a year of illegal revenues.

Sailors Attempt To Save Buddie, Lost In Atlantic

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Two sailors dived overboard in the rough and frigid Atlantic Tuesday in a futile effort to save a shipmate who was swept off the deck of fleet tug USS Nitro.

The Navy said the vessel was 180 miles off Newport when Frank T. Anderson of Utica, N.Y., was carried overboard.

Without hesitating, Max E. Ford of Bayside, N.Y., and Paul Zippieri of Medford, Mass., plunged off the side.

Anderson sank before they could reach him.

Along the same line, an influential GOP official came away from the White House with a report he was convinced that every member of the President's official family expects Dulles to recover rather swiftly.

At Walter Reed, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, the surgeon who will operate on Dulles, said the hernia operation will be a simple one. He predicted the 70-year-old Cabinet member will be on his feet a short time later.

Despite official denials, however, speculation was reported running through administration circles as to a possible successor if Dulles is unable to return.

Floods Batter Ohio As Thousands Flee

Deaths Rise In Tornado, Scores Hurt

Declared Disaster Area With Damage Fixed In Millions

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The death toll from the tornado that hit this sleeping city with explosive force early Tuesday stood at 21 today. Officials said there is reason to hope it will go no higher.

Seventy injured remained in hospitals.

The extent of the havoc wrought by the twister in the leering central portion of the city brought surprise that the loss of life was no greater.

"The reports on missing persons is a bit cloudy but we can't find out for sure that anybody's missing," said Brig. Gen. Francis P. Hardaway (Ret.), Civil Defense director. "There are many conflicting reports."

Firemen Resume Digging
Firemen resumed digging into wreckage of a three-story house where eight died at the corner of Whittier and Delmar.

The last of the 21 dead was identified as Mrs. Zulu Brown, 42, her husband, Fred, just barely got out of the collapsing structure with their son.

The emotion-packed scenes among relatives identifying their dead left officials at the city morgue shaken. "People just don't know what I've been through," said Dave Lamb, morgue superintendent.

Relief workers still are measuring dimensions of the misery inflicted by the twister. The Red Cross estimated 1,400 homeless in St. Louis and the county.

The Insurance Board of St. Louis said 4,000 buildings were damaged at a loss of 12 million dollars.

Eligible For Funds
President Eisenhower declared the stricken city a disaster area, making it eligible for federal relief funds.

The tornado first touched down with minor damage in Brentwood, a West St. Louis suburb. Then it cut a path across the southeast corner of Forest Park. The worst destruction was in crowded Negro tenements on a path from the park to the vicinity of Busch Stadium, home of the St. Louis Cardinals. This area is a mile to two miles from downtown St. Louis.

Eight persons died when the tornado crushed a house at Whittier and Delmar.

There was also serious damage in the section of St. Louis known as "Greenwich Village" near the intersection of Boyle and Olive streets. In this area are many antique shops, apartments and taverns.

The tornado struck without warning and moved at tremendous speed.

Negroes, Whites Ride To School

ALEXANDRIA, Va. (AP) — White and Negro pupils rode together on a school bus here today. It may have been the first time such a thing has happened in Virginia.

Five Negroes boarded the bus without incident and rode with white pupils about two miles to the William Ramsay Elementary School.

State school officials said if there have been other such cases they were in rural areas where separate bus service would be difficult.

Riots Erupt In Venezuela As Fete Ends

CARACAS, Venezuela (UPI) — Mardi Gras celebrations reached a fever pitch of excitement and violence today with serious rioting in advance of President-elect Romulo Betancourt's inauguration Friday.

More than 3,000 persons went wild in the El Silencio commercial district Tuesday night. They tore down pre-Lenten carnival decorations, broke into and looted stores, threw rocks at police and overturned and burned two national guard patrol cars.

Police broke up the growing mobs with tear gas and rifles, wounding four rioters in the legs and arms. Six other persons were injured and 470 arrested.

Police said those arrested included known thieves and pickpockets who used the carnival spirit to incite disorder. However, other sources indicated the riots might have been inspired by political agitators who opposed Betancourt's inauguration.

Betancourt was elected last year by a nationwide majority of landslide proportions, but Communist-supported Rear Adm. Wolfgang Larrazabal carried Caracas.

Publication of the election returns touched off a wave of wild riots in the Venezuelan capital.

The U.S. delegation to the inaugural ceremonies, headed by former New York Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, arrived by special U.S. Air Force plane Tuesday night and was escorted around the center of town, where the riots occurred.

Lawyer Leaves Friend $25,000, Son Is 'Cut Off'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Ally Hiram W. Johnson Jr. cut off son Hiram W. Johnson III with $10, but bequeathed $25,000 to Marie Schow, a family friend of 40 years.

The will, filed for probate Tuesday, declared a state of emergency and noted: "I do not consider it fitting to exorcise him (Hiram) nor do I wish to detail my reasons. They are explicit and into city sewers in dangerous amounts."

The balance of the estate—value not estimated — goes to another son, Philip Bowles Johnson. Johnson Jr. was a son of the late Hiram W. Johnson, who was California governor and U.S. senator.

Warmup Due On Weekend

BALTIMORE (AP)—Five-day forecast: Temperatures will average 3 to 5 degrees above normal during the period.

Cold Thursday, warmer Friday and over the weekend. Precipitation about Sunday, totaling less than one-fourth of an inch. Normal high temperatures range from 30 to 44. Lows vary from around 17 in the Western Maryland mountains to the 20s elsewhere.

Two Women Convicted On Vice Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — Former schoolteacher Virginia McManus and a madam friend have been convicted on vice charges after a trial in Women's Court.

Miss McManus, 25 and blonde, and Mrs. Beatrice Garfield, 29, are being held in the Western House of Detention pending sentencing Feb. 25.

The two women were found guilty Tuesday by Magistrate Hyman Bushel on charges stemming from their arrest in a police raid early last Friday on Mrs. Garfield's $350-a-month apartment.

Police said the apartment was the center of operation of 15 to 20 call girls who grossed about $400 each a night.

Miss McManus and Mrs. Garfield were found guilty of loitering for the purposes of prostitution. Mrs. Garfield also was convicted of permitting her apartment to be used for prostitution. The maximum sentence on either conviction is three years.

Miss McManus was acquitted on prostitution charges last October.

Pope Appeals For Peace At Lent Opening

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII appealed today in the words Pope Pius XI wrote on the eve of World War II for "Peace! Peace! Peace!"

The Pope, his own forehead marked with ashes as a sign of humility on the 30th anniversary of the signing of the Lateran Pact, said the pact ended 70 years of disunion.

From the balcony of his studio, miles and rose again this morning Pope John told 10,000 Romans and a crowd was reached Wednesday night in St. Peter's Square.

"Courage, my children. It pleases God, the last invocation of Pope Pius XI, written a few hours before his death: 'Exult, O Prince of Apostles, in this memorable day which recalls God given back to Italy and Italy given back to God.'"

Those words were taken from a speech Pius XI had prepared for delivery Feb. 11, 1939, on the 10th anniversary of the Lateran Pact. He died one day before he was to have spoken.

Indiana Also Hard Hit As Rivers Rise

Ice Jams Increase Menace To Cities; Blast Unsuccessful

By The Associated Press

Floodwaters choked with tons of ice threatened cities in northern Indiana and northern Ohio today.

Winter's violent weather ended or diminished in most sections of the nation. This left the rising floodwaters in Indiana and Ohio and the huge cleaning up job after the killer tornado in St. Louis the major problems at hand.

Fremont, its business district under two feet of water in the second flood in less than a month, was the hardest hit of Ohio's cities. The blunted Sandusky River was choked with ice jams to the north and south.

Hundreds Forced To Flee
An estimated 1,000 Fremont residents were forced to leave their homes. Another 200 to 500 evacuees still are homeless from the January flood.

Ice upstream, south of Fremont, was being held back at Ballville Dam. Should it cut loose suddenly, it would wreak havoc on the flooded business district.

An Ohio National Guard team made an unsuccessful effort to break the ice north of Fremont Tuesday night. They tried to cut a path to release the pent-up water that normally flows through the marshy areas into Sandusky Bay on Lake Erie.

The new flood was a foot higher than the January flood in Fremont. The city still is in a state of panic on the first flood. Businessmen still were advertising flood sales from the January disaster.

The Sandusky created last night Roman Catholic Church and Italy, at Tiffin, upstream more than 20 miles from the city. A crest was reached Wednesday night at Findlay, on the "Courage, my children. It pleases God, the last invocation of Pope Pius XI, written a few hours before his death: 'Exult, O Prince of Apostles, in this memorable day which recalls God given back to Italy and Italy given back to God.'"

Lincoln Birthday Dinner Set In Capital Tonight

By The Associated Press
Observances honoring Abraham Lincoln today were the order of the day on virtually every level of American civic life.

President Eisenhower planned to attend a memorial banquet to night in Washington. The President has proclaimed this year as Lincoln Sesqui-centennial Year.

Other celebrations marking the 150th anniversary Thursday of the birth of the Civil War President were planned throughout the week from coast to coast.

The NBC television network has prepared a film presentation of photographs and drawings of Lincoln during the Civil War years for 8.30 p.m. EST tonight.

Congress gets into the act Thursday when a joint session will be held. Carl Sandburg, famed Lincoln biographer, will give an address and actor Fredric March will read the Gettysburg Address.

The sesquicentennial events began early this year and are scheduled to continue into the summer.

Hodgenville, Ky., Lincoln's birthplace, was to be the scene of Thursday of the first sale of the new one-cent Lincoln postage stamp.

Gov. A. B. Chandler of Kentucky will place a wreath on the door of the cabin where Lincoln was born Feb. 12, 1809. George Tuesday night after a long illness, executive assistant to the

Girl 'Jockey' Seeks Record, Stays Awake

POCATELLO, Idaho (AP) — There's nothing to staying awake a week. All you have to do is keep from nodding.

Radio station KYTE says its star girl disc jockey—Jo Warner—hasn't even come close to a catnap since she started her wakeathon at noon Tuesday a week ago.

"If she ever cat-napped, we'd never wake her up," said Tom Decker, co-owner of the station. Jo passed her 17th hour of broadcasting in a music store window at 4 p.m. Tuesday night and Becker says she will decide when she wants to quit.

Her goal is 240 hours of non-stop broadcasting. Local merchants have put up a small fortune in prizes if she makes it that long, Becker said.

The wakeathon is being staged on behalf of the March of Dimes. Physicians keep tabs on Jo with periodic examinations.

She will reach the 200-hour mark Wednesday night and hopes to claim a new non-stop broadcasting record.

Pentagon Asks No Funds For Nike-Zeus Missile

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Department of Defense spokesman says the budget asks no money for production of the Nike-Zeus missile because it is not far enough advanced.

The Nike-Zeus has been designed as a major defense against enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles.

W. J. McNell, assistant secretary of defense, estimated the status of the Nike-Zeus Tuesday while replying to criticism by two Army generals.

Maj. Gen. William W. Dick Jr., special weapons chief, and Maj. Gen. Dwight E. Beach, air defense director, had told the House Space Committee Monday that the missile was far enough advanced to permit a start on production of some of its parts.

They said their recommendations included 30 million dollars for production this fiscal year and 700 million dollars next fiscal year. The budget does not include any money for production.

McNell, however, told the Senate-House Economic Committee that the budget does contain money to develop the missile.

"Every possible cent is being spent to perfect it," said McNell, considered the Pentagon's top financial expert.

"But we have not put in money for bases or production lines because the missile is not ready."

Of the estimated 300 persons injured, 70 remained in hospitals, one in critical condition. Some 4,000 buildings were reported damaged at a loss of 12 million dollars by the Insurance Board of St. Louis.

In many other parts of the storm belt, pounded by ice, snow, sleet and rain storms for more than two days, there were big jobs — restoring communications, clearing streets and highways and getting business, industry and schools back to normal.

Tornadoes also hit areas in other parts of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky. Six persons were injured in Kentucky and five in Ohio. Many homes were damaged.

The St. Louis Civil Defense Agency acknowledged it did not function smoothly in spite of eight years of preparation for such a disaster. CD officials blamed the Weather Bureau for not predicting the tornado and sending out an alert.

The Weather Bureau replied that would have been impossible. The tornado followed almost the same path of one in 1927 which killed 78.

John slipped into East Germany in 1954 and worked for the Communists. He returned to the West the following year claiming he had been kidnapped, but in 1956

Mamie Departs For Vacation At Arizona Resort

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower journeyed toward an Arizona vacation today after a send-off from the whole Eisenhower family.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her sister, Mrs. George Gordon Moore, left Tuesday night aboard a Southern Railroad private Pullman for a visit to a health and beauty resort near Phoenix.

Before the train pulled out, Eisenhower and the Eisenhowers' son, daughter-in-law and four grandchildren boarded the car to say farewell to the first lady.

Mrs. Eisenhower and her sister are due in New Orleans at 8:50 p.m. today and reportedly plan to arrive at Phoenix Sunday for a two-week stay.

A short time before Mrs. Eisenhower left, the White House said the President may fly to Augusta, Ga., for a weekend of golf immediately following his talks with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos at Acapulco, Mexico, next week.

Hearing Set To Oppose SRC's Plan

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A joint public hearing to hear Northern Panhandle residents who oppose State Road Commission plans for re-routing W. Va. 2 will be held tonight by the House and Senate Roads Committees.

The Benwood - McMechen area south of Wheeling was visited last weekend by a special Senate committee. The members held preliminary discussion with town officials.

The SRC plans to relocate the R. 2 bottleneck through the two communities, while opposition groups favor a route closer to the Ohio River.

Local officials reportedly told the six-member sub-committee that the proposed relocation would wreck their water and sewage systems, cause the razing of 300 homes and virtually destroy the sections as business areas.

Conference Scheduled On Tax Problems

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Senate President Ralph J. Bean (D-Hardy) said today he planned to confer soon with House Speaker Harry R. Pauley (D-McDowell) to further discuss tax proposals.

Senate Democrats reviewed the proposals at an hour-long caucus Tuesday but Bean said they arrived at no conclusions. The session, a closed-door affair, was called to talk over differences between the two chambers.

Bean said bills discussed at the caucus included four proposed by the House leadership, including a state income tax, an increase in the gross sales tax on business and its extension to professional persons, and extension of the consumers sales tax to contracting.

The House and Senate are seeking to raise an estimated $8,000,000 for road purposes and $10,000,000 for other state services.

"It's possible we'll come up with something in the next day or two," Bean said. The two chambers had been reported about $4,000,000 apart on the overall package.

House Democrats originally were scheduled to discuss their tax differences with the Senate at a caucus today, but Pauley said it was being delayed until Thursday because of the afternoon hearing on proposed liquor legislation.

British Professor Lists Cancer Danger

LONDON (UPI)—Professor F. C. Pybus, a leading British surgeon, warned today that smoke from burning leaves and garden rubbish are possible causes of cancer.

Pybus, professor emeritus of surgery at the University of Durham, wrote in the magazine the medical press that, "The smoke from these smoldering heaps is darker, more irritating, generally foul smelling and, as might be expected, contains benzpyrene, a suspected cancer agent."

Grant Jordan Aid

AMMAN, Jordan (UPI)—U.S. international development loan fund officials said Tuesday they had decided to grant the Amman Electric Co. a $1,200,000 loan for construction and improvement of power plants here.

GOP's Solution Viewed

FAIRMONT, W. Va. (UPI)—Democrat Adlai Stevenson would Rep. Arch A. Moore (R-W. Va.) be the 1960 presidential candidates Tuesday night predicted the GOP for their respective parties.

In a Lincoln Day address here, Moore said "historians and commentators have use on the canvas, counting over us and are about ready to proclaim to the world our demise."

"All of us were shocked by the results of the last election, but never, in my opinion, can these people be further wrong than they are in their predictions that the Republican Party is gasping for its last breath," he declared.

Moore also predicted Vice President Richard M. Nixon and

Youth Implicates Another In Robbery

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 20-year-old Glen Burnie youth has testified that Charles F. Lampron drove him to Washington with the stolen money. The slender, dark-haired youth, while he robbed the bank, Amos testified, Lampron waited with the car at a nearby restaurant. After the robbery, he said, Lampron drove him to Washington. He said he gave most of the money to Lampron.

The 18-year-old Lampron, also of Glen Burnie, is on trial on charges of being an accomplice and of receiving $5,091 of the stolen money.

Defense counsel Alan H. Murrell told the jury earlier that evidence will prove that Lampron knew nothing of the robbery until Amos returned from the bank to the car with the stolen money.

Murrell said evidence will show Lampron drove Amos to Washington under "pressure."

Amos, wearing leather boots and khaki trousers, told the court he originally arranged for another man to drive the getaway car.

On the day of the robbery, he said, he met Lampron and discussed the plans for the theft. They drove away in Lampron's car and when the other man failed to show up at a predetermined meeting place, Amos said, "we

Remedy Asked For Removal Of Traffic Jams

ROCKVILLE, Md. (AP)—The Silver Spring Board of Trade has urged an attack on one of suburban Maryland's worst traffic bottlenecks, the narrow Colesville Road Tunnel under the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad.

William B. Wheeler, chairman of the Capital Board's Traffic Committee, appeared at the Montgomery County Council's weekly meeting to enlist its help in pressing State road builders to widen Colesville Road.

The road should be made for dual traffic from the District line through downtown Silver Spring eastward to the Sligo Creek, Wheeler said.

The councilmen cautiously replied that they would be glad to have the State build the road—but not if it meant postponing other highway projects considered more urgent.

Algonquin Players Schedule Tryouts

The Algonquin Players will give tryouts today and tomorrow at 8 p. m. at City Hall auditorium for parts in "Angel Street."

Assistance is also needed for stage crews and other persons who work behind the scenes. Chad Riley is director and Ralph O. Barrick, assistant director. Robert Boniece is technical director.

The U.S. Marines transformed their 32-piece fife and drum corps into the first U. S. armed forces brass band in 1802.

Shore, Pennsy Farmers To Testify

BALTIMORE (AP)—Dairy co-producers in Howard, Frederick "long out-lived its emergency and erators from southern Pennsylvania and Carroll counties (basic purpose)." He is president of the Howard County Farm Bureau. The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers' Inc. insists the order is federal milk marketing order for Maryland. He said the federal act has been needed to assure farmers a reasonable return for their product.

The Maryland Cooperative Milk Producers' Inc. wants a federal order to set a minimum price of $3.70 a hundredweight on bottling milk sold by farmers to dairies in the proposed marketing area.

The order would cover Baltimore City and all or parts of 18 Maryland counties, including all of the Eastern Shore.

Dr. James E. Honan, assistant manager of the Inter-State Milk Producers' Cooperative, testified yesterday that the Shore and Harford County should not be included in the proposed pricing order because this area does not qualify as part of the Baltimore milk marketing area.

Honan said his cooperative includes members who ship milk to a number of dairies in the Shore area and in nearby Pennsylvania. Melvin H. Wessel, a milk producer from Lisbon, Md., called for repeal of a federal act under which milk marketing orders are issued. Wessel said he spoke for 20 other

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Correction Now

EVERY PLANE crash is a shock but it is always especially stunning when tragedy strikes within a few seconds of safety. The blow is compounded when it happens to a brand new aircraft that has just ushered in exciting advances in commercial aviation. Only the usual thorough federal inquiries into the crash of the American Airlines' Electra in New York's East River can yield the full answer to this unhappy event.

THERE CAN BE no prejudging of the possibility of pilot error or shortcomings of some part of the plane. The pilot was a veteran of 27,000 flying hours and seven million miles. The plane, though new to service, had been thoroughly tested in a long shakedown period. But we do know one sad fact, the runway at La Guardia airport which the Electra was approaching is not adequately equipped for bad weather landings.

IT LACKS ONE key safeguard, a radio beam to inform an incoming plane whether it is on a proper downward glide as it descends to runway level. Without that protection, a plane in conditions of poor visibility cannot be sure it will not be too high or too low. A mistake of 100 feet can spell tragedy. It is really astonishing that so fundamental a safety device as this should be lacking from any runway at a major airport in a congested air traffic center like New York. We need not wait for federal crash findings before insisting that this lack be corrected. It should be done without delay.

Provocation

ADOLF HITLER was the first dictator to make steady use of the manufactured incident either to justify aggressive action or stir trouble. The Communists have long since brought this technique to high perfection in harassing the free world. We have just had a fresh sample of it on the West German border. For 58 hours Soviet soldiers held a U. S. Army truck convoy which had traveled from West Berlin across Soviet East Germany, then let the trucks pass without making the inspection they had demanded in the first place. Since they must have known we would, under our rights, refuse to allow inspection and decline to return the convoy to West Berlin what did they gain? Perhaps the Russians hope to undercut our proper position in Berlin by occasional provocations. Possibly with East-West talks on Germany a strong likelihood, they think it useful to show who's really "boss" in the corridor between Berlin and the West. The truth is, of course, that though they control access to the corridor, the Russians are not the boss as they are in East Berlin itself. We are in the corridor by right, gained from conquering Germany. Let the whole world see this latest incident for what it is—a needless, senseless, reckless tampering with the world's safety for selfish totalitarian purposes.

Shopworn Gambits

WHO HAS NOT turned on the radio three minutes before the end of a program and then heard the announcer say, "For the past 30 minutes you have been listening to..." and so forth? We're often tempted to retort, "You may have been broadcasting for 30 minutes, brother, but why the bland assumption that we've been listening? Who has not wearied of the mellifluous voice repeating for (so it seems) the millionth time, "And now, a word from our sponsor?" What poor, badgered citizen has not groaned to note the freight that little word, yes, is made to bear? "Yes," says the radio or TV pitchman, "now you can own this..." or perhaps, "Yes, Whizzo cleans down where the dirt begins." Or maybe, "Yes, it seems incredible, but..." And now, as they say, a word from a disgruntled member of the great unseen, the audience: What seems incredible is that the radio and TV fellows can't think up some new gambits. They might even try saying "For the past 30 minutes we have been broadcasting..." instead of "you have been listening." Unless, of course, they're afraid this might give someone the idea of not listening.

PARIS HAS rediscovered the feminine line, and designers are making the most of it in their spring fashion collections. Anybody in the market for old tents in wholesale lots?

Khrushchev Seen In Role Of Big Bad Wolf

ETHER Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has a short memory or he believes the Western powers have.

One of his favorite themes when he accuses the West of promoting the cold war is the need for trust among nations. He is also fond of citing homely little Russian parables to illustrate his points.

In that vein then, we may say that the moment he has donned grandmother's cap, pulled the covers up high and is running through the little Red Riding Hood and the wolf routine as regards Berlin.

ALL THAT is necessary to settle the Berlin problem, he says, is for the Western Allies to have trust in Communist good faith. With faith, his story goes, the Allies can abandon West Berlin with perfect confidence that it will remain a free symbol of the capitalist world 119 miles inside Communist territory.

Western trade routes to Berlin will be guaranteed but there will be no need for military supplies since there will be no Western troops there.

LIKEWISE (these examples of Communist "good faith" occur or are disclosed.

In Washington, the State Department released tape recordings which tell in Russian fighter pilots' own words how an unarmed U. S. transport was shot down over Russian territory with 17 men aboard, 11 of them still unaccounted for.

The recordings proved the Communists lied when they denied that they shot the plane down. They proved that Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan also lied when he repeated the denial during his recent visit to Washington.

AT GENEVA, the Communist delegate to the conference seeking to ban nuclear weapons tests disclosed the Russians made major gains in the perfection of their atomic weapons as result of tests last October.

These tests occurred after both the United States and Britain had announced cessation of tests and at a time when the Russians themselves were demanding a permanent ban.

FURTHER ON the matter of trust:

The West insists that inspection teams to check on possible violations are essential to any agreement to a permanent ban on weapons tests.

The Russians agree in principle but are equally insistent that any such teams in Russian territory be manned by their own people. To do otherwise, they say, would be to open Russia to a vast Western spy network. This is Soviet trust.

The East Germans also are in on the act.

LAST WEEK they released five Americans they had held prisoner and then promoted the act as proof of the reasonable attitude they would maintain once they took over control of the communications routes to West Berlin.

One of the prisoners, Sgt. Kenneth G. Carlson of San Leandro, Calif., had been interrogated 69 days simply because he boarded a wrong-way train which carried him into the Eastern zone.

LAST WEEK also, the Russians finally permitted a four-truck U. S. convoy to proceed after holding it 56 hours at the Helmscheid checkpoint. It was a blatant warning to the West of what can happen at any time to the Berlin supply routes.

Certainly, it must be admitted that neither the West Berlin situation nor a divided Germany can exist forever. A new approach must be found. But it doesn't seem that it can come through faith.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — There is no single doubt about it, boys: the place to be for a man with a wedding ring is on the reservation. Let him stray ever so innocently, and all the forces of society and meteorology whirl about his head in a shrill storm.

My bride was in Milwaukee, and still is, and it seemed to me the other afternoon that it would be a pleasant and unobtrusive thing to telephone an attractive British actress I know and ask her to have dinner with me.

THIS IS A bright girl whose conversation runs into select channels having to do with a spread of information from C. Magnon probables to the exact difference between nuclear fission and fusion. Overseas pilots, polo players, scholars, savants, pundits, writers, members of Parliament and, for all I know, Presidents of new hopeful, young Republics the world over are among her friends.

She will talk about the theatre, if kicked in the shins, and about her own contributions to it if you put a .45 calibre automatic pistol to her temple and growl: "All right, you rat. Talk!" Otherwise, no.

I TOLD HER that if she was free to do so, it might be amusing to share dinner and I'd pick her up at 7:30 p. m. She agreed that it was worth a gamble, and as things worked out I was in her lobby at 7:10. On the house phone I said I was early and would wait and most women would have let me. Instead, she said: "I've been ready for hrs. Had nothing else to do. I'll be right down." And she was.

PUT ME DOWN among the old-fashioned gents with steel in their veins. I don't think a woman wants to be consulted about where to go for dinner. She likes to be told. So I told her we'd drive out the parkways to Idlewild and have dinner at The Golden Door, where the food is good and the atmosphere quiet except for the occasional snarl of an airplane taking off for Beirut, Istanbul or Marakech, or even Nashville. She said that was fine, never had been there and she liked to look at airplanes in action.

So we drove out about the time the traffic was dwindling and things went fine. We coursed lightly over a smaller of chat ranking from William Faulkner and his point of no return sentences to John O'Hara and his delight in detailing every nuance and gesture in the more intimate sides of human life, from what winter rain does to modern shoes to did she want the heater on because it was nippy and a station wagon is not cold-proof. She said she didn't want the heater on, being British and hardy.

WE ARRIVED at Idlewild and had a table by the window and the old cool writing this had to be dashing. Between the icy parking lot and the warmth of the restaurant, a matter of some 125 yards, he put his topcoat jauntily over his right shoulder, a picaresque Errol Flynn kind of pose, and 10 minutes later sneezed.

The food was good, but not piping hot, and we talked until about 10 o'clock and I took her back home, sneezing three more times on the way. After dropping her off at her place, I drove back out to the country and began to shiver ominously. This time I did turn the heater on and it felt great.

During the night I waked twice with chills, rammed some aspirin down and went back to sleep. At 9 o'clock I waked with a roaring cold.

AND THAT IS why, boys, I say that if you wear a wedding ring and have no social right to be motoring over the Long Island countryside at night with a piquantly attractive actress to whom you are not married, the best thing for you to do is go straight home when your day's work is over, have a nice, if dull, hot dinner, and go to bed about 9 o'clock with a good book and an electric heating pad at your feet.

Since my bride left this area on a tour of play-acting, I have been doing almost exactly this and have not only got in a lot of good reading but have escaped colds, flu, virus and other upper respiratory ailments. Also, there is that valuable feeling of strictest virtue.

Look what happened after getting through this much of the winter without a trace of a cold: one night on the town with a pretty girl and I'm fit for the pneumonia ward.

By golly, the old rules are basic and meant to be observed.

Right On The Line

NEW YORK—Business as she is being done under the Castro government in Cuba:

The bearded boys walked into the office of the president and owner of a big U. S. car agency in Havana. There was no need for palaver. They had his books, a complete run-down on his relations with the Batista people, had sealed his safe, closed his bank.

"You have been getting tax concessions because you claim to be operating an assembly plant," the serious young leader of the group said. "You do not have an assembly plant, in truth. All you do is attach fenders and a few little things like that. You owe the government more than a million dollars, over the years."

THE MAN exploded, "when Batista was in power his people smuggled American cars into the country by the thousands, with no thought of paying the duty. I did indeed add only fenders and a few parts, but I spent more than four million dollars on this plant. There was no way I could compete with the smugglers except the way I did it."

"Now, I'd be happy to be an assembly plant in reality. It will take two years to train labor. Why make me pay back taxes as an importer while those who brought in cars without any trouble, except bribing some Batista man, paid no taxes whatsoever. At least I showed my faith in the future of Cuba by building this plant in the first place."

"NO, SAID THE young accountant with the beard. 'The government needs money right

AID TO STUDENTS—More than 400 students at Maryland College and University, who have been faced with abandoning their studies because of lack of funds, are to receive aid under the CWA plan to help moneyless students.

CONSTRUCTION DRIVE—Secretary Leakes instructs the PWA to concentrate upon getting actual construction started on projects for which funds have been allotted in an effort to absorb 4,000,000 CWA employees and put additional unemployed to work.

MILL TO REOPEN—Officials of the Klotz Throwing Mill say the plant will resume operation after several months of idleness. About 50 of the former employees will report for work late this week to get the plant ready for operations.

PRN CUTS SERVICE—Effective today, the Pennsylvania Railroad will discontinue all passenger service into Cumberland. Trains will be operated daily from Altoona only to State Line, Pa., for connections at Hyndman with B&O trains.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK—Curbside comments of a Pavement Plato:

America seems to have lost one of its safety valves — the old-fashioned Sunday afternoon nap.

It is hard to say just when civilization went astray in our country. Some say it happened right after the first World War when the Russians embraced communism and the Americans adopted prohibition.

Some date it from the time when U. S. women were given the ballot and also started smoking cigarettes in public. Still others claim civilization died with the five-cent glass of beer.

BUT A GOOD CASE could be made for the contention that civilized living began to decline when the average man gave up his Sunday afternoon nap and took up Sunday driving. Life has been one mad whirl ever since.

The old-fashioned Sunday afternoon nap in most homes was a ceremony as full of ritual as a lodge meeting.

It started with a massive Sunday dinner, a loving work of art that took mother all morning to prepare. This was served promptly at two o'clock.

After a meal that would fell three of today's modest trenchermen, the head of the house would push back his chair, yawn and say, "Well, guess it's time for the nap."

He would go into his bedroom, and when he took off his shoes you could hear his sigh of relief all through the house. In taking off his shoes father symbolically also shed the woes, griefs and annoyances of his whole work week.

HE'D THEN STRETCH out on the bed, cover his face with the Sunday newspaper—and in five seconds be sound asleep.

"If any of you children dare wake him up, I'll—" said mother, leaving her threat unfinished as she waved a warning finger.

Then she would retire to a comfortable chair in the living room, and doze herself over the pile of undarned socks in her lap.

Three hours after he hit the pillow, father let out a series of cacophonous grunts, wheezes and groans, like an old steam engine on a hard uphill grade. Then he woke up.

Where is the family peace of those vanished Sundays? Today people work so hard on Sunday trying to find joy somewhere outside the home they are still worn-out on Monday morning.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON — The mellifluous New England accents of Senator Norris Cotton, of New Hampshire, are a delight to the ear of the listener but they sometimes require translation into less cultured American. The distinguished solon long has called Senator Morse, of Oregon, "Senator Moss," but now that there is an actual Senator Moss, from Utah, the interpreters will have to work overtime.

More men had to be put on the job to translate another Cottonism the other day. The Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee was in executive session to select the membership of subcommittees. As chairman, Senator Warren G. Magnuson, of Washington, announced the names of Democrats, and as ranking minority member present, Senator Cotton announced the names of Republicans.

The New Englander got to the name of Senator Thurston B. Morton. "Senator Motion," he called out culturally.

Chairman Magnuson protested. "He isn't a member of the committee, so how can we put him on a subcommittee?"

"Who isn't a member?" inquired Senator Cotton.

"I presume you were referring to Senator Thomas E. Martin, of Iowa," said Magnuson.

"I was not," stated Senator Cotton. "I didn't say 'Senator Motion'; I said 'Senator Mooton'."

It began to look like an impasse, but Senator Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, clarified it.

"What this situation needs," he said, "is a Southern translation. Let me interpret for you two fellows. He means 'Senator Mooton,' of Kentucky."

SENATOR BIBLE, of Nevada, is having this letter framed as a reminder in humility: "Dear Senator Bible: I am enclosing a summary sheet outlining the research program under way. To insure the use of these reports, we are reworking our mailing lists so that 4,000 outstanding Americans, all makers of public opinion, get them. They also go to members of Congress."

REP. CHAMBERLAIN, of Michigan, says that animal lovers should rise in denunciation of Congressmen who employ mixed animal metaphors which are an "insult in inaccuracy" to the innocent creatures named.

The GOP Legislator's wrath is especially aimed at Democratic Rep. Ray Madden, of Indiana, who employed the words "hog" and "fat cats" in discussing defense contracts that went to Chamberlain's district.

As an old Tenderfoot Scout, who only flunked his woodcraft badge by 20 points, I am wholeheartedly in sympathy with Chamberlain's anti-defamation campaign on behalf of our poor dumb friends. But members of Congress would be completely lost—in fact rendered well-nigh inarticulate—if they couldn't mix animal metaphors.

If the Michigan solon's restrictions were imposed, they couldn't smell a rat and nip it in the bud; they couldn't kill the goose that lays the golden eggs until they pump the well dry; and they'd have to have something beside dark horses in reserve for 1960. If animal allusions were barred to Congress it would be a heinous shame. The two parties would even have to forego their symbols. Chamberlain's complaint about an "insult in inaccuracy" would be even more badgering because, in this 86th Congress, the donkey is mastodon and the elephant diminutive.

Possibly Rep. Chamberlain should think twice before trying to take animal metaphors away from his ilk because it might put him in bad standing in the Iks' Club. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the Michiganander and he might out-fox himself and have to stay dumb as an ox.

Forensic League Contest Slated Feb. 28 At Keyser

KEYSER—The annual Region used nationally for high school III-A contest for the West Virginia debate this year. The Potomac State awards are scheduled to take place annually to the regional winner of Potomac State College Saturday, first place in each of the four February 28, according to Dr. events a two-year scholarship Elizabeth A. Atwater, professor, covering tuition and fees. A total of five scholarships is awarded since there is a team of two in debate. This year, with the prospect of a rise in tuition, the scholarship will nearly double in value. It will be worth at least $150 a year instead of the usual $80, according to President E. B. Church.

Region III-A includes high schools in Berkeley, Grant, Hampshire, Hardy, Jefferson, Morgan and Mineral counties. Schools eligible to send contestants to the DSC contest are Franklin, Keyser, Martinsburg, Moorefield, Paw Paw, Petersburg, Piedmont and Ridgeley.

Events in which contestants will participate include debate, contemporary public address, extemporaneous speaking and interpretation of prose literature. This year's debate topic is: "Resolved that the United States should adopt the essential features of the British system of education." The topic being Winners of both first and second place in regional contests throughout the state will participate in the finals at West Virginia University March 19, 20 and 21.

Latest figures from the office of Dean K. S. McKee reveal that there are 592 enrolled for the second semester at Potomac State College as compared to 617 last semester. A decrease is usually expected the second semester because of drop-outs, graduation and transfers. There were 591 enrolled at this time last year.

There are 255 sophomores, 307 freshmen, and 30 special students as compared to the first semester's 220, 339, and 38, respectively. This semester brought approximately 44 new students to the campus.

Church Elects New Officials At Frostburg

FROSTBURG—The annual congregational meeting of First United Presbyterian Church was held last night in the church annex. A dinner was served by members of the Doorkeepers Society and the church choir sang "Look for the Silver Lining" and "You'll Never Walk Alone."

The Westminster Fellowship group, with Mrs. Clarence Muir in charge, presented a skit. Elroy Richardson, Beth Muir, Chris Horne, Jacqueline Smith, Thomas Richardson, Sandra Willett and Larry Trautman participated.

Rev. Paul Caravella opened the business session. Robert Ewing and Francis Richardson presided. James Adams, Howard Lemert and John Schulteis were elected deacons; James Langley, Margaret Faulk and Elaine Willis, trustees; Walter Hutchins, D. U. Smith and Kenneth Truly, elders.

It was announced that the building committee will meet tonight at the church.

Mineral Health Department Submits Report For 1958

KEYSER—The Mineral County Health Department announces there were 12 polio vaccine clinics held during 1958 with 2,856 receiving first, second and booster shots. Pre-school immunization clinics numbered 24 at the different schools for children whose ages range from three months to school age.

There were 99 immunization clinics held in the Health Department office where immunizations for various purposes were given. Each Saturday from 9 a. m. to noon a clinic is conducted.

There were 12 tuberculin skin testing clinics held with X-rays and follow-up being offered to the positive reactors.

Four diagnostic X-ray clinics were held during the year. This X-ray service is designed to help with diagnosis and to have follow-up for known cases of tuberculosis, as well as for contacts and suspects. The mobile chest X-ray unit visit to Mineral County accounted for 2,294 chests being X-rayed. These services are offered through the cooperation of the State Health Department and the local Tuberculosis Association.

During the 1957-58 school term there were 163 school visits and 226 home visits made in behalf of the school child, with 541 home visits in all being made in the public health program.

Fire Gales Home
A family of nine was left homeless Monday afternoon when fire gutted their four-room residence near the entrance to Queens Point Cemetery.

The family of Samuel Spitzer, including married children and grandchildren, lived in the frame structure. Everything in the house was destroyed in the fire. The local United Charities organization has started a drive to assist the family. A temporary home has been found for them, and furniture is being solicited. United Charities Secretary William F. Miller said. Persons wishing to help the Spitzers may call Miller at his residence or Keyser Lodge 662, L.O.O. Moose.

Mrs. Spitzer said she was baking bread when the blaze was discovered in a bedroom. Defective fusing was listed as the cause of the fire.

The McCool Volunteer Fire Company tank truck was credited with preventing the flames from spreading to nearby buildings.

Meeting Held
Directors of the Mineral County Farm Bureau met recently in the Court House. Garland Ebert, of Farmington, was re-elected president. Other officers are Eugene Woodworth, vice president; William Bane, secretary; Ervin Bane, treasurer; and Oscar Gustafson, reporter.

Mrs. Garland Ebert was appointed chairman of Farm Bureau Women.

Ebert gave an account of his trip to Charleston to represent

Mineral County Farmers on the Legislative Committee

Charles Bonar reported that to date 71 members have joined the Farm Bureau in the county.

Ebert, William Bane and Fred Price were selected to attend a training meeting at Buckhannon February 25.

Student Honored
Miss Joy Elaine Suter, who was recently chosen Homemaker of Tomorrow at Keyser High School, has also been rated among the 10 highest in the state, which places her in national competition.

She is the second student from KHS to achieve this honor, the first being Miss Jean Kight, who is now a student at West Virginia University.

Miss Suter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Suter, St. Cloud Street, is a member of the National Honor Society and Science Club. She was also declared winner of the national merit scholarship from Keyser High.

James Bosley has been declared winner of the Bausch and Lomb honorary science award medal for 1959 by Owen S. Schaeffer of the Science Department at Keyser High School.

Bosley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. Bosley, of New Creek, maintained a 4.00 scholastic average and a 96.4 grade average for his four-year high school science courses to win the award. He is editor of the 11-Times, ex-officio member of the Student Council, member of the National Honor Society, Future Teachers organization and Agriculture Club of New Creek, and attends Claysville FUB Church.

He is the second winner of the award in his family. A brother John, now working on his doctorate in psychology at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, won the award in 1952.

Winners of the honorary science award are eligible to compete for the accompanying science scholarship sponsored by the Bausch and Lomb Optical Company, at the University of Rochester in New York.

Brief Mention
The Keyser Parent-Teacher Association will meet Thursday, February 19, instead of tomorrow due to conflicting affairs.

Keyser Area PSC Student Wins Honor

KEYSER — Miss Donna Lee Ashenfelter, sophomore physical education major from Keyser, has been chosen to represent Potomac State College as princess in the Court of Queen Shenandoah XXXII at the annual Shenandoah Apple Blossom Festival at Winchester, Va., April 30-May 1.

Miss Ashenfelter will be one of 30 young women selected to represent colleges and universities in Virginia, West Virginia, the District of Columbia, Pennsylvania and Maryland. The name of the queen, usually a young woman whose family is of national prominence, will be revealed later.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Ashenfelter, Potomac State's princess is active as a member of Kappa Delta Psi sorority, an ROTC sponsor, president of the Christian Youth Fellowship, president of the Women's Athletic Association, head cheerleader and a member of the Student Council. In 1958 her sorority voted her the "most valuable pledge of the year."

Last year Miss Ashenfelter was runner-up for Miss Civil Air Patrol. She is a graduate of Keyser High School where she served as president of the Student Council, drum majorette for the KHS band and homecoming princess. She was member of the K-Elites, Tri-Hi-Y and Honor Society, and in her sophomore year was crowned harvest queen.

Georges Creek Dredging Approved At Lonaconing

LONACONING—The Mayor and Board of Jehovah Witnesses Sunday Council this week approved the dredging of Georges Creek from the east end bridge to the corporation limits on West Main Street.

The creek will be dredged with a bulldozer under a $650 contract to expedite the flow of the stream through this community.

A delegation of adult sponsors of the Little League, which conducts baseball for youngsters, appeared to request that the Mayor and Council buy or lease a lot on Railroad Street which is owned by the fire company. Melvin Sloan served as spokesman for the group.

Mayor Wilmoth F. Garlitz said he would attend the next meeting of the fire company and attempt to obtain an agreement to buy or lease the lot. In that way it will be used only for recreational purposes.

Lincoln's Secret Was His Plainness

Editor's Note—Ever since that view seemed little more than a scene at the Ford Theatre, equal with its fellows, but that as the name of Abraham Lincoln—we recede and gain perspective of his grip on succeeding generations when we turn from his acts to examine two underlying traits, his sagacity and his magnanimity. The sagacity with which he was influenced? A noted American his-trustee that the once-skeptical forian, twice a Pulitzer Prize winner, explores the mystery in a searching article, written for The Associated Press.

By ALLAN NEVINS

The Associated Press

It is 150 years since Abraham Lincoln opened his eyes in a one-windowed, dirt-floored cabin near Hodgenville, Kentucky. It is almost 94 years since Stanton broke the hush at his deathbed with the words, "Now he belongs to the ages."

No statesman ever grew more shrewdly than Lincoln grew between 1834 and 1865: grew from a prairie politician to the beneficent dictator of a great nation in its most terrible crisis. No leader of modern times has grown more steadily in fame and worldwide influence since his death. He is like the mountain peak that at near

What is the deeper secret of the hold this son of the prairies has taken on the imagination of the world? More books, foreign and domestic, are written on him than on any other civil ruler of the past.

We would look in vain for the explanation merely in his principal public acts. He was the Great Emancipator, but he was a reluctant emancipator, who for all his intense desire to free the slaves would have preferred gradual compensation emancipation to an abrupt liberation. He was an unmatched war leader, but never a highly efficient administrator; two other wartime presidents, Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt, showed more skill in organizing the energies of the nation.

He was a farsighted national chief, but never an astute planner with the myosinid tal-

What did passing the crisis mean? Not a decision to abolish slavery immediately. No, simply a decision to put bounds around slavery, to contain it, accepting the principle that within a reasonable time it must be gradually erased; and meanwhile to silence down and calmly consider ways and reasons for erasing it. This was the one courageous, morally sound, and practical remedy ever proposed for the difficulties of racial readjustment, economic revolution, and regional strife bound up in slavery. Its sagacity, had Americans adopted it, would have saved the country a million lives, a mountain of treasure, and a grievous retardation of growth.

His magnanimity, innate and unfeigned, matched his sagacity. In the course of a long, bitter war he never once uttered an abusive word about the Southern people. Throughout that war he maintained his hope that it should end in no mere political reunion, but a reunion of hearts and purposes.

Lincoln's greatest qualities, however, lay deeper than sagacity and magnanimity. One was his passionate faith in the virtue and strength of the plain people. God must have loved them, he said, or he would never have made so many of them.

Out of his passionate regard for common folk came his unerring instinct for popular sentiment; he knew just how far and fast he could go in leading the country without losing touch with the majority. Out of it came his consistent refusal to talk down to the people or appeal to their passions. As Lowell said, he never played the Cicerone—the demagogue.

Instead, he presented the people with careful arguments, addressed to their reason and their best sentiments. "I beg of you a calm and enlarged consideration of them," he said of one set of reasons. This instinct for the popular heart made his most memorable public act, the Emancipation Proclamation, seem to good judges just right.

And out of his deep feeling for popular government was born Lincoln's crowning quality: his vision of the larger meaning of the grim struggle he had to conduct. It was not just a war to determine whether the Union should survive or perish. It was an ordeal to determine whether democracy had sufficient strength to survive, whether America would repay the devotion of the hosts who died for it by seeking "a new birth of freedom," and whether the Republic would serve the future of mankind. From the Bible, from Shakespeare, from long reflection, Lincoln had

Glass Plant Strike Agreement Reached

Assembly Studies Juvenile Program

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Full-fledged debate is scheduled today before Maryland legislators on whether some movies should be labeled unfit for juveniles.

Causing more scurrying around than any other bill yet introduced is one to give the State board of censors the power to designate certain films obscene.

Such films then could be viewed legally only by persons over 16 years of age. Any movie operator allowing a juvenile to see them could be fined $25.

City Council Asking Local Delegate Meet

Legislators opposed to the theory of prior censorship in any form have introduced an alternative form of penalizing theater operators for showing obscene movies to minors.

It would be up to the police to first declare a movie obscene and then arrest an operator who admitted a juvenile.

A court then would make a final decision on what is obscene. Any operator convicted would be subject to a fine of $100.

Arguments on both bills will be heard by the two Judiciary committees of the General Assembly which last year failed to act on the one providing censorship by the State board.

A Legislative Council vote also was against its introduction again this year. However, individual legislators went ahead and proposed it, 29 members in the House and 10 in the Senate.

Another Juvenile Bill

Another bill dealing with juveniles is to come before the House for action today. It represents an effort to make enforceable a two-year-old law prohibiting the sale of obscene and indecent publications to children under 18.

The proposal assumes that any persons selling such a publication to a juvenile would do so with the knowledge of the owner of the establishment. This would give police a cause of action against the owner.

Before giving the bill a favorable report, the Judiciary Committee struck out a similar preliminary cause dealing with the display of such literature.

It was argued that the section would be difficult to enforce and might lead to defeat of the whole bill. The committee deleted it by a 13-8 vote after debate.

The State Roads Commission appeared before Finance committees of the House and Senate last night and completed in one evening an annual report that originally was scheduled for two nights.

Outgoing Chairman Robert O. Bannell cautioned the Legislature against any sacrifice in highway design and construction just because the program is lagging behind schedule and swamped an increased costs.

Should Be Quality

"It is far more preferable to move deliberately and stretch the program over a slightly longer period," he said. "Let's not sacrifice the needed quality to gratify the demand for speed."

The program, adopted as a 12-year project in 1953, is now more than two years behind schedule, but Bannell said it is being geared to handle "colossal increases" in traffic volume and is still a model among state highway programs.

Bannell said he did not think of the members of the delegation Maryland's six-cent gasoline tax should be increased to help take up the cost rise. He said Maryland could not afford to boost its tax unless those of neighboring states were also hiked.

He said, however, if the Legislature wants to accelerate the program and will provide the financing, "the commission stands ready to gear its operations accordingly."

Opposes Larger Body

The chairman of the three-member commission also disagreed with Gov. Tawes' plan to replace it with a seven-member group for wider geographic representation. He said states with large commissions had found their operations "clumsier" and "as a rule... slower to make decisions."

Bannell expressed pleasure with the governor's appointment of John J. McMullen of Cumberland, present Democratic member, to serve as chairman until the new organization takes over.

"It is to be hoped that if he cannot be persuaded to continue on a permanent basis and another top-notch man is found, he will be kept in that office as long as he does his job well," Bannell said.

"Changing administrators in a job as big as this one is an expensive luxury."

The chairman hinted that the Legislature expect a proposal soon to do away with the property review boards set up in 1956 to help facilitate land acquisition. He said they were slowing down commission operations instead of helping them.

Keyser Man Killed; Car Strikes Tree

Robert D. Urice
Victim Of Crash
Near Fort Ashby

A 23-year-old Keyser man was killed instantly early today in a one-car accident along the Fort Ashby-Keyser Road.

Victim of the mishap was Robert Dale Urice of RD 2, Keyser, who was pronounced dead on arrival at Potomac Valley Hospital in Keyser.

Cpl. Evan Moody of the West Virginia State Police detachment at Keyser said the accident occurred on State Route 46 about four miles west of Fort Ashby.

Cpl. Moody said it is believed the victim was riding alone at the time of the crash.

Police said their investigation revealed that Urice was traveling along a straight section of the road when he lost control of his automobile.

Police said the car left the right side of the highway along Patterson Creek and traveled approximately 250 feet at the top of the embankment. At this point police said the vehicle "shot" 52 feet into the air before coming to rest against a large tree near the foot of the embankment.

Police said apparently the only reason the vehicle didn't drop into Patterson Creek was because of its high rate of speed which kept it suspended in air.

The car was demolished and the victim was pinned under the wreckage.

The accident was first discovered around 2 a. m. by Trooper Charles Oliver of the West Virginia State Police who was off duty at the time. Trooper Oliver telephoned Cpl. Moody and an ambulance.

Urice was employed by the Potomac Farms Dairy.

He was a son of Alonzo D. and Margie (Shillingburg) Urice of RD 2, Keyser.

Besides his parents, he is survived by a son, Robert Dale Urice Jr., at home.

The body was taken to the Rogers Funeral Home in Keyser pending arrangements.

Court House To Be Closed On Thursday

Tomorrow is Lincoln's birthday and the Court House, Union Street building and a number of state offices here will be closed as it is a legal holiday.

The Unemployment Compensation office will be open as usual, but the state comptroller's office on Market Street will be closed as will other state agencies. City Hall will be open tomorrow.

The Post Office will not observe the holiday and delivery of mail and window service will be as usual. Cumberland banks will also be open for business tomorrow.

Public and parochial schools will have classes tomorrow.

Firemen Fight Blaze In Field

Volunteer firemen from Ridgeley and Wiley Ford battled a huge field blaze early this morning along the Millenberger Road.

Firemen said the blaze swept over the entire field and reached the foundation of a home before being brought under control.

High winds hampered firemen as they fought to save the home. The alarm was received by Ridgeley at 3:40 a. m. Wiley Ford was summoned and sent an engine and pumper.

Firemen remained on the scene 45 minutes.

Course Set Today

The officer training course for volunteer firemen will be held today at 7:15 p. m. at the LaVale Fire Hall, according to James Loar, LaVale fire chief.

The instruction is provided by the Fire Service Extension of the University of Maryland.

The City Council and the Board of Allegany County Commissioners held what was termed a very amicable meeting last night and acted to resolve problems affecting both bodies.

The final action of the joint session was the idea of forming a five-member study committee to study mutual problems.

That was one positive result from the meeting at the Court House.

The county commissioners agreed to support one piece of legislation to ease the financial problems of the city but opposed another.

Approved was proposed legislation which would eliminate the

Temperature Drops After "Scorcher"

The temperature dropped as much as 47 degrees in about 12 hours after reaching a "scorching" 68 degrees yesterday afternoon.

The extremely unseasonal warm weather of yesterday caused the Potomac River and Wills Creek to become high and filled with large chunks of ice.

The 1,000-foot ice jam in Wills Creek on the farm of Cleus Shingleton two miles north of Ellerslie broke loose about 3 p. m. yesterday and large blocks flowed rapidly downstream.

Yesterday morning's rainfall caused the river and streams in this section to rise rapidly.

Today the river reading at Wiley Ford Bridge was 6.53 feet, the highest it has been for several months.

Yesterday's official high in Cumberland was 68 degrees, and other points in this section recorded about the same reading.

But by early morning, the temperature had plummeted to a minimum of 29 degrees in the city. At Oakland it dropped to 21 degrees; Accident and Frostburg, 22; and Big Savage Mountain, 16.

The forecast for Allegany County calls for it to be fair and colder tonight with the low by morning being between 15 and 23 degrees. Friday is to be partly cloudy and warmer.

Garrett County's low by morning is to be around 15 degrees.

Road Drainage County Concern

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has written to the State Roads Commission concerning a drainage problem which it fears will develop as a result of the modernization of U. S. Route 40 from Long to the Six Mile House.

Harry Skelly, supervisor of the County Roads Department, informed the board that he had gone over the SRC plans for the highway project and has determined that water from the highway would drain onto county roads which intersect the main thoroughfare.

There are a large number of such roads which run off both sides of Route 40 in the LaVale area. Skelly told the board that the highway surface would be higher than the county roads in most cases and the water from the highway would drain onto them after a rainfall.

Traffic Club Will Meet At Elks Home

The Tri-State Traffic Club will meet today at 6:30 p. m. at the Elks home on South Centre Street.

Instead of Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

William C. Irving, Martinsburg, president of Harris Motor Express, will speak.

Winter Symphony Event Gives Music Inspiration

West Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland contributed to an eventful evening of music last night at Allegany High School auditorium, the occasion being the Winter Concert of the Cumberland Civic Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Wilton Sykes.

Leonard Withers, head of the music department at Potomac State, and Jackie Fisher, 16-year-old senior at Bayard High School, were the West Virginia pianists. Donald Wagner, Hyndman, a member of the flute section of the orchestra, contributed an original composition which was played for the first time, and this was the Pennsylvania feature of the evening. As the composer has not named his musical piece, may this writer suggest "Tableland Oriole" as its title? The Tableland area comprises parts of the three states and there is an original feeling in the composition that immediately suggested to this writer the title here given.

The Withers-Fisher program included the well known Arensky "Valse," the "Danse Macabre" by Saint-Saens, and a brilliant arrangement of Strauss waltzes. So enthusiastic was the applause from the large audience that two encores were added, and then the two artists had in response to several additional curtain calls. The splendid impression made previously by this gifted youngster from Mt. Storm was enhanced by his performance here last night. As for Leonard Withers, his competence, artistry and technical superiority have long been acknowledged and admired. Cumberland will have a most cordial welcome for either or both any time they choose to appear.

The best way to describe the orchestra's place in Cumberland's cultural life is to think of the void that would ensue if it should cease to exist. As the half hundred musicians re-created last night the music of Mozart, Bach, Grieg, Saint-Saens, Kern and Gade, music lovers could be thankful to the men and women of all ages and many varied occupations who make it possible for residents and visitors to enjoy the solace, the inspiration and the stimulation of the world's great compositions.

Conductor Sykes has achieved magnificent results. Founded by S. Lue Sykes, brother of the present conductor, the orchestra (now in its 13th season) is an organization of which any small city may well be proud. It would be a disservice to boast of orchestral perfection that amateur symphonies do not possess. But there is a steady improvement, a growth of ensemble excellence, and a development of co-ordination between players and conductor that gives promise of better and better performances in the months and years ahead.

Heard last night were "Cosi Margherita," "Mozart," "Arioso," "W. Va.," Mrs. Irene Schumm, St. Charles, Md. (Continued on Page 18)

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Nevin (Thelma) Uhl, this city; two sisters, Mrs. Augusta Lang and Mrs. Grace Spring, both of this city.

Mr. Hawk was a member of the Mother Church of First Church of Christ Scientist of Boston, and was a charter member and former director of the Cumberland Lions Club.

The body is at Stein Funeral Home.

The family requests that flowers be omitted.

Miss Anna Finzel

FROSTBURG—Miss Anna Margaret Finzel, of 55 Broadway, died this morning in Miners Hospital where she had been a patient one week.

A native of Finzel, she was a daughter of the late Charles and Mollie (Festerman) Finzel.

She was a member of Zion United Church of Christ.

Survivors include a sister, Mrs. Louise Caton, with whom she resided, and two brothers, Howard Finzel, of Finzel, and Harry Finzel, Martinsburg.

The body will be at the Durs Funeral Home after 7 p. m. today.

Mrs. Russell J. Wolford

Mrs. Martha V. Wolford, 60, wife of Russell J. Wolford, Bedford Road, died this morning in Sacred Heart Hospital where she had been a patient one week.

A native of Delray, W. Va., she was a daughter of the late Isaac and Malinda (Howdyshell) Mowrey.

Besides her husband, she is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Pugh, Hanging Rock, W. Va.; Mrs. Irene Schumm, St. Charles, Md. (Continued on Page 18)

Honor Court Conducted By Parent Group

A Court of Honor was held last night by the parent organization of Boy Scout Troop 88, sponsored by the Bedford Road Optimist Club at the Bedford Road Fire Hall.

Fred Down, scoutmaster, and James Quinn, assistant scoutmaster, conducted the court. Miniature Scout pins were presented to the mothers of the following Scouts: Carl Garland, Steve Paul, David Paul, who won second class ratings; Donald Decker, John Adams, and Gary Hendrickson, first class ratings; Jan Wilkrow, Star Scout rating; and Larry Bloom, perfect attendance.

Charter members of the troop were presented one-year pins. Committee members who received Scout and one-year pins were George Fey, Edgar Meader, Robert Saville, John Wentling, William Wilkrow, and Frank Adams.

John Wentling was master of ceremonies and William Lesson, spoke. Ward Wilson gave the invocation and brief talks were given by George Bann, president of the Optimist Club and Mrs. Robert Saville, president of the Parent Organization.

The committee on arrangements comprised Mrs. Robert Saville, Mrs. Edwin Decker, Mrs. David Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Meader, Mrs. Aubrey Chambers, Misses Bonnie Saville, Carol Metzger, Betty Jean Martin and John Wentling.

Officers of the parent organization for the coming year are Aubrey Chambers, president; Mrs. Edwin Decker, vice president; Mrs. Ralph Garfield, secretary, and Mrs. Aubrey Chambers, treasurer.

A covered dish supper preceded the ceremony. The program was attended by 125 Scouts and their parents and members of the Optimist Club.

St. Luke's Lists Lenten Services

Lenten services at St. Luke's Lutheran Church have been announced by the pastor, Rev. William R. Snyder.

Five sermons are scheduled Wednesday at 7:45 p. m. with the general theme, "Preparation Through Prayer." Holy Communion services will be held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday during Holy Week at 2 p. m. and at 4 p. m. for shut-in members of the church.

Starting Sunday a series of sermons will be given on "Parables of the Passion."

The senior choir will present a cantata, "Man of Sorrows," on April 5 and the junior choir will present "God So Loved the World" the same day.

South End Boy Struck By Car

Charles McDonald, eight, son of Mrs. Fannie McDonald, 410 South Cedar Street, is reported in "good" condition today in Memorial Hospital where he was admitted last night after being struck by a car.

Attaches said he sustained a possible fracture of the right arm, abrasions and a large bump on his head. He was admitted to the hospital for X-rays and observation.

City Police Officers W. Elmer Shank and James Swann investigated the accident.

They said the car was driven by Delores Riggelman, 113 West Elder Street. The vehicle struck the boy as he ran across the street in the 400-block of Virginia Avenue.

No charges have been placed against the driver of the car pending further investigation of the case.

Dispute Has Idled Plants In 6 States

Stoppage Started 126 Days Ago And Affected 13,000

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—The United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union and the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. reached agreement today which could end the 126 day strike at the company's nine plants in six states.

The union's international president Ralph Reiser brought about the agreement by dismissing the union's wage committee which had objected to it.

The proposal will be submitted to a secret ballot vote of the union's membership. Reiser said he hoped the vote could be taken by Monday and a company spokesman said that if it is approved, some maintenance personnel would be recalled immediately and full production would be accomplished within a few days.

The proposal calls for submission of points not yet settled by agreement to an arbitration commission. The commission's findings would be final and binding. Reiser said the international union will strongly recommend acceptance of the proposal by the membership.

Union Rejects Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Union negotiators went into caucus this morning several hours after Federal Mediator Robert Donahoe said negotiations to end the 129-day Pittsburgh Plate Glass Co. strike "are pretty much up in the air."

There was no indication of what the subject of the latest caucus was.

Union negotiators last night turned down the firm's last offer. They studied it three days and offered a counter-proposal, which Pittsburgh Plate quickly rejected.

Continue To Meet

"In view of the developments we will continue to meet with the parties separately today," Donahoe said. "If any developments occur, a joint session will be called."

Ralph Reiser, president of the United Glass and Ceramic Workers Union, said the counter-proposal reduced from 11 to 7 the number of issues to be submitted to binding arbitration after the employees return to work.

Donahoe said the union's counter-proposal, with the exception of a few minor changes, was similar to the offer it made Jan. 28.

According to Donahoe, the company offer, which was made Saturday night, touched on all unresolved problems and broadened the scope of issues the firm would be willing to submit to arbitration. The union has been insisting on a wider scope than the company.

Details Not Revealed

"We will need a radical change soon to do any good," Donahoe said. The details of both union and company proposals have not been revealed.

The main issues in dispute are seniority at the Creighton, Pa., plant, incentive systems and local plant grievances. A tentative agreement has been reached on wages and pensions.

The strike began last Oct. 6, idling some 13,000 workers in nine plants in seven cities.

Its effects have spread to the auto industry, where 20,000 workers at Chrysler and American Motors have been furloughed because of a glass shortage. Both auto firms buy most of their glass from Pittsburgh Plate.

Fort Hill Class Planning Reunion

The Class of 1953 of Fort Hill High School will hold a dinner-dance sometime this summer.

Plans are being completed by several members of the class and persons interested should contact Mrs. Sarah (Clapp) Willets by telephoning PA 4-0261 or Mrs. Erminia (Warnick) Quinn at PA 4-4644.

Boys Arrested In Pistol Theft

City Police yesterday arrested two boys, 15 and 16, in connection with the theft of a police-type pistol from the guard house at Constitution Park.

The boys were picked up by Dets. Thomas See and George Furstenberg. They have been released in the custody of their parents pending action in Juvenile Court next week.

The boys informed the detectives that they took the weapon from the guard house and attempted to sell it for $7 to Robert Lee Edmonson, 20, Oldtown Road, who informed the police of the case.

Det. See said the pistol was an old type which has been kept at the Park for a number of years.

Committee To Meet

The Ladies Committee for the Maryland, Delaware and District of Columbia Elks Association convention here July 30-August 2 will meet Friday at 8:30 p. m. in the home of Cumberland Lodge 63, BPO Elks.

Party Scheduled

The Senior Citizens Club will have a Valentine party tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the City Hall, according to C. Eugene Mason, city recreation director.

Big Turnout Anticipated For Benefit Hoop Battle

A $300,000 scoreboard will be installed at Yankee Stadium in time for the 1959 season opener. The board, 113 feet wide and 45 feet high, is called by Oscar Fraley, United Press International sports writer, "the largest pinball machine in the world."

Located in center field, the scoreboard will tower 110 feet above street level. It comes, Fraley says, as bad news to members of New York's "finest" in Precinct 14 and to apartment-house dwellers beyond.

"In previous years," adds Fraley, "the gendarmes on the day of a game roped off a section of the elevated platform beyond center field so that you couldn't get a bargain view for 15 cents. You'd be surprised how many cops it required to keep that little bitty space clear."

"They couldn't do a thing however, about the binocular-armed folks in the apartments."

"But this new electronic marvel takes care of all the free loaders, even the 'working men' in blue. For it will practically block out the heavens."

"Convertible for football, the board contains 11,210 lamps, enough to light a small town, with 115,000 watts. 115 miles of electric cable, which is enough to wire a destroyer (a very fitting analogy when discussing the scourges of the American League), has a total face area of 4,872 feet plus a few extra inches, and will be controlled by 4,800 push buttons."

"This immediately led to the cry of 'bring back Joe McCarthy.'"

"McCarthy, during his tenure at the Yankee helm, was highly incensed when Jimmy Dykes called him a 'push button manager.' The Dykes theory was that, when the Yankee needed a new player, all they did was push buttons and bring them up from the farm clubs."

"So if Casey Stengel blows the pennant this year with all those new buttons it can be predicted confidently and authoritatively that the old perferer will get the sack."

Answer Stuns Pastor

Bob Gaffney, who forced his way into the starting football and basketball lineups at Allegany High as a sophomore, is an unusual athlete.

Not too many schoolboys have the size and ability as tenth graders to become starters in these two sports, football especially, but Bob is an exception.

His outlook on life is also unusual for a boy his age, as evidenced by his attitude last year when he chose to play basketball in the Sunday School League instead of participating in junior varsity competition at Allegany. Most boys dream of the day they'll be trotting onto the court in the uniform of their school and leap at the opportunity when it comes their way.

Rev. William R. Snyder, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran Church, asked young Gaffney prior to the 1957-58 season if he intended to play in the Sunday School League or for the Allegany jayvees. The answer he received was surprising, but pleasant.

"Pastor Snyder, I have four years of basketball and the least I can do is give one to my church," the young athlete declared.

Admittedly, the church is important in the life of any individual but getting such an answer from a boy Gaffney's age was very unusual, Rev. Snyder said.

This past Sunday Gaffney and two other stars of last year's St. Luke's team — Stephen Klavuhn and Gary Yutz — were presented God and Country awards in a ceremony in the church. The award is the highest of a religious nature in Boy Scouting.

Levy To Rejoin Bucs As Coach

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced today that Lenny Levy will rejoin the club as a part-time coach. Levy coached at first base last year but announced his retirement at the end of the season to devote full time to his automobile business.

He will not be on the coaching lines this season and will be with the team for home games only. Jimmy Dykes will coach third base and Frank Ocek first.

The Pirates also announced the signing of three left-handed pitchers to bring the total players under 1959 contracts to 23.

Those turning in pacts Tuesday were Don Gross, Alvin Jackson and Don Rowe.

Games Postponed

The two City Basketball League games scheduled at Carver School gym tonight between the K. of C. and Chaney's and the Moose and Old Experts have been postponed. Gene Mason, city rec director, announces.

IF YOU WERE THE UMPIRE

By BEN OLAN

There are several pitchers in the big leagues whose control is often erratic. When one of them is working anything can happen.

Here's a simulated case involving an erratic pitcher. See if you can come up with the correct answer.

Del Crandall of Milwaukee is the batter in the last of the second inning against St. Louis. Vinegar Bend Mizell is on the mound for the Cardinals. Mizell's first pitch hits the ground 15 feet in front of the plate. Crandall, however, hits the ball on the first bounce and drives it safely into left field. He stops at first base.

Do you think that:

- Crandall is automatically out?
- He can remain on first base?
- The pitch is a ball?
- The pitch is an automatic strike?

Answer: b. Crandall can remain on first base if he hits the ball before it hits the ground.

LaSalle Wins Third In Row, Herds Bisons

Bedford High scored only nine points in the second half last night on the SS. Peter and Paul court and dropped a low-scoring affair to the LaSalle hoopers, 40-28. The Bisons, who were trimmed, 50-39, at home, had led, 19-17, at the half.

LaSalle, sporting its best won-loss record of the year with a 10-8 showing, now has taken eight of its last ten games and scored three triumphs in a row.

The Keystone State cagers were in front 9-6 at the end of the first quarter and managed to hold a two-point edge at intermission. LaSalle gained the upper hand in the third heat by getting 18 tallies to only five for the invaders.

Neither quint could score in the last period until the 6:30 mark. LaSalle had 15 goals to the 13 for the Bisons while hitting on 10 of 19 free throws. Bedford had eight chances and made two from the 15-foot mark.

Mike Muckert led the locals with 14 points on five goals and four charity tosses while Mickey Scaletta rimmed 11 markers. Geisler accounted for nine of Bedford's total.

Capon Rally Nips Oldtown, 55-37

Oldtown High's cagers appeared on their way to their first victory of the season last night but instead wound up with their 16th setback as Capon Bridge rallied in the second half for a 55-37 win on the Capons' court.

The Indians, who lost the first game to the Bobcats, 61-46, led at intermission, 24-22, but could not hold the advantage. Gary Wolford had 13 markers for the winners while Stansberry caged a dozen for Oldtown.

Franklin Romps, Needs Only Two Wins To Bag PVC Title

Time is running out on Keyser and Romney in their bids for the Potomac Valley Conference basketball title as front-running Franklin's magic number reached two last night.

The rampaging Panthers grabbed their 10th victory without a setback in the 17-team loop with a 105-51 rout of Mathias on the winners' hardwoods.

Franklin has only two opponents remaining in the circuit, facing Wardensville next Tuesday and Elk Garden a week from Friday. By sweeping both games, the Panthers are in as champs for the first time in history.

Seek Ninth In Row

Keyser guns for its ninth straight in the circuit tonight in its return go with Moorefield on the Golden Tornado court. Keyser trails Franklin in the circuit with a 10-1 log and has only two more games — Fort Ashby and Piedmont — after tonight.

Jackets, 7-8 in the loop, were beaten by Keyser, 61-54, in their first contest.

Romney continued to dog the heels of Franklin and Keyser in the league race last night, the Pioneers romping to their 12th win in 14 PVC encounters by rapping Petersburg, 74-45. Elk Garden took its first victory after 15 losses, including 10 in the conference, by surprising Ridgeley, 61-47, at home.

Paw Paw's Pirates clobbered West Virginia School for the Deaf, 81-49, in the other league action.

The Panthers, who are now 17-1 for the season, hit their high-water mark in disposing of Mathias and hit on 55 per cent of their shots from the floor.

Franklin, paced by Larry Wimmer's 26 points, had 47 goals and 11 free throws. All of Franklin's starters hit in double figures.

Forest Mathias was the scoring leader with 27 tallies for the losers who had extended Franklin in overtime in their first game before falling, 73-70.

Maphis Hoops 32

Lanky Bill Maphis sparked Romney to its fifth straight conquest with 32 points to top all the scorers for the night. The Vikings, who had an all-sophomore lineup, were paced by Harold Michael, Louie Al and Ernie Nelson who accounted for 36 points.

Elk Garden, close several times, finally bagged its first triumph as the Stags spilled Ridgeley. Jerold Milavec and Ron Stullenbarger had 19 and 18 points for the winners while Mike Detrick tallied 13 for the Hawks.

Kevin Edmondson had 31 counters in pacing Paw Paw to its eighth league triumph in a dozen efforts. Tom Jividen finished with 27.

Ayersman's 47 Tallies Set Record

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Big Bob Ayersman of Virginia Tech has pushed his way in among the top four college basketball scoring leaders while helping produce a threat to West Virginia's domination of the Southern Conference.

The 6-4 sophomore from Boomer, W. Va., scored 47 points Tuesday night to lead Virginia Tech to a 101-66 victory over Richmond. Ayersman tossed in 17 field goals and 13 free throws to set a school single game scoring record.

Ayersman hiked his season's total to 478 points and a 28.1 average for 17 games. The only major college players ahead of him are Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati 32.5, Len Byrd of Marshall 29.8, and Jim Hagan of Tennessee Tech 29.0.

NC State Beats Duke
The victory gave Virginia Tech an 82 record in the conference. Ayersman's performance, the 80-72 victory by sixth-ranked North Carolina State over Duke and the end of Missouri's 11-game losing streak were among the noteworthy developments on Tuesday night's program.

Lou Pucillo, North Carolina State's 5-9 guard from Philadelphia, scored 27 points as the Wolfpack picked up their 17th triumph against two setbacks.

Missouri broke the longest losing streak in its history by turning back Oklahoma State 51-44. Missouri won the game at the free throw line, canning 13 of 16 while Oklahoma State managed only 6 of 13. It was Missouri's first victory since beating Rice last Dec. 18.

Terps Lose Again
George Washington came from behind a seven point halftime deficit, tied the score with 53 seconds remaining and defeated Maryland in overtime 66-63. Bill Telasky's jump shot got George Washington even in regulation time. Then Bucky McDonald took over, scoring eight of the Colonials' nine points in the extra period.

In the Southwest Conference, Wade Wolfe scored 15 points before fouling out early in the second half to lead Texas Tech to a 76-54 triumph over Texas and Southern Methodist edged Baylor 54-50 in a tight game during which the lead changed hands 15 times and the score was tied 14 times.

Eastern Kentucky virtually clinched the Ohio Valley Conference championship by whipping Morehead, Ky. 95-77.

In other action, Don Hennon, who has a 27.2 points average for 20 games, had 26 to lead Pittsburg to a 76-55 victory over Carnegie Tech; Davidson beat Winthrop 60-42; Washington and Lee 84-79 in overtime; Boston University used a fast break to defeat Connecticut for the first time in 24 years, 67-55, and St. Francis (N.Y.) defeated Seton Hall 67-58.

Mounties Topple Southern Quint

Getting a dozen of their tallies at the foul line, Mountaineer High marked up its 12th victory in 16 games by beating Southern of Oakland, 66-62, last night at Thomas. The Highlanders had a 28-27 edge from the field but managed only six of 13 penalty pitches.

Lincoln Wilkins canned 24 markers for the Mounties and Norman Hull came through with 19. Ronnie and Terry Colow had 16 apiece for Southern. The loss was the sixth in 16 games for the Highlanders.

Mikkelsen's Top Day Nets 43 Markers

By United Press International
Vern Mikkelsen, who played in the shadow of the great George Mikan for many years, has finally achieved his own personal niche with the Minneapolis Lakers.

Mikkelsen played the best game of his 10-year career in the National Basketball Association Tuesday night when he scored 43 points to lead the Lakers to a 118-100 triumph over the Cincinnati Royals at Houston, Tex.

One other game scheduled was cancelled when the St. Louis Hawks failed to keep a Detroit date because thunderstorms grounded their plane in Harrisburg, Pa.

Mikkelsen, shooting for the NBA's charmed circle of 10,000 points, gained his career high on a close one from Beal in Frostburg, 62-59, in overtime.

Three-Game Budge
Valley has a three-game budge in the opening period to give the with only three loop fees remain. Lakers a lead they kept through out the game. Minneapolis scored to a 56-44 halftime edge and powered on the power the rest of the way.

Medford Park, recently acquired from St. Louis, led the Royals with 25 points.

WARRIORS TOP HARPERS FERRY

Wardensville broke the game open in the second quarter and then coasted to a 56-42 victory over Harpers Ferry on the losers' court last night. The Warriors, paced by Virgil Heishman's 18 points, now have won 11 of 15 outings.

Tech To Shoot For No. 2 Spot

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Defending State Conference champion West Virginia Tech, its hope for a second straight regular season title gone, clashes with Morris Harvey at Montgomery tonight in an effort to wrestle second place from the Eagles.

West Virginia State winds up its road trip at Salem, Glenville is at Davis & Elkins and Wheeling at Washington & Jefferson in other games.

Wesleyan hosted its conference record to 18-1 and 24-1 overall Tuesday by beating Davis & Elkins 99-82. West Virginia State topped Alderson - Broadus 81-70. Concord trimmed Beckley 83-78. Fairmont thumped Salem 87-80 and Catholic University edged Shepherd 73-65.

Wesleyan clinched its first regular-season title Monday night, squeezing by Tech 91-89 at Montgomery.

Valley Clinches 'B' Title, Seeks WMI Crown Friday

Only one opponent, Allegany here this Friday, stands in the way of stopping the onrushing Valley Black Knights from snaring their first Western Maryland Intercollegiate League basketball title this week.

The Delmolders, turning on the steam in the second half, took care of their fifth straight County Class B title last night by thumping Mt. Savage, 78-60, before a full house on the losers' floor. The victory was the Knights' increased their advantage without a setback for the seventh straight period closed, and were in front by 18, at 62-44, with only a minute gone in the final quarter.

Lauder Notes 24
All of Valley's starters scored in double figures with Lauder's 24 points leading the way. Brown collected 14, "Tippy" Melts 13, and Winner and Jim Chappell had 11 apiece. Trimble, a senior who has been used sparingly by coach Johnny Thomas this season, tossed in seven field goals and came through with a 9-12 performance at the foul line to pace Mt. Savage with 23 tallies. Leroy Morris and Fay Often scored 13 and 12.

The Sentinels unloaded their best offensive showing of the season in avenging an earlier 56-52 loss to Bruce. All five starters, led by Leroy Henry's 21 markers, reached double figures as the Red Raiders pulled out of a two-game losing streak.

Point honors, however, were taken by Bill Wright who canned 28 counters on a dozen field goals and four penalty pitches. Bill Wilkinson, leading scorer in the league, finished with 13 tallies but saw his pacing margin cut to three points, 138-135, over Valley's Lauder.

Al Kamauff, who was the hero in Beal's 72-71 victory over Bruce last Friday when he meshed a penalty pitch for the winning margin, missed out last night on a charity pitch with 12 seconds remaining and Alco went to win in overtime.

The score was a 57-57 draw at the end of the regulation time and the Campers came up with five markers in the extra heat to Beal's two for the triumph.

By winning, Allegany also kept its chances alive in the County Class A picture, the victory being its second in three outings. Forcien's Hospital Tuesday night from injuries suffered in a college wrestling match.

Slippery Rock Wrestler Dies

ERIE, Pa. (UPI)—An autopsy was scheduled today for Alan Melhven, 20, who died at St. Vincent's Hospital Tuesday night from injuries suffered in a college wrestling match.

Melhven, of Killanning, a member of the Slippery Rock Teachers' College wrestling team, sustained complete paralysis last Jan. 10 in a match at Edinboro. He suffered a fractured neck and underwent emergency surgery to relieve pressure on his spinal cord.

McGuire Says ACC Is Like Red Roulette

By The Associated Press
When Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams clash, it's like playing Russian roulette, says North Carolina Coach Frank McGuire.

"We play 14 conference games," McGuire notes, "and knock our brains out doing it."

To back up his claim, McGuire could have pointed to Raleigh's Reynolds Coliseum last night where Duke almost upset the conference's second ranked squad, North Carolina State.

But the Wolfpack picked up its 17th win against only two defeats, 80-72, as Lou Pucillo's jump shots twice pulled State out of danger in the closing minutes. The 5-9 senior picked up 27 points in all.

The win gave State an 11-1 ACC mark. The Blue Devils, third in conference standings, are now 5-6.

Maryland went out of the conference and dropped a 65-45 away-time contest to George Washington. The Terps lost a seven point lead midway of the final period. Al Bunge, giving his best performance of the season, dropped in 26 points for Maryland.

McGuire made his comments on the conference in Chicago, where he's nationally second-ranked Tar Heels play Loyola Saturday.

He said the only thing wrong with the 14-conference games is that they don't count. "We have a conference tournament to decide who goes to the NCAA," he pointed out. "It's like playing Russian roulette."

No ACC clubs see action tonight.

Terps Defensive Leaders In ACC

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina and N.C. State, still one-two in the Atlantic Coast Conference and ranking national powers, continue to dominate conference team statistics. Oddly, Wake Forest and Maryland boast slight scoring advantages over their opposition despite so-so records.

Proving its claim as one of the best basketball teams in the nation to have lost nine games, Maryland, the ACC defensive leader at 55.9 points a game, boasts an average margin of 1.4 points a game over its opposition.

The Terps record, however, is 6-9. ACC Service Bureau figures show North Carolina's Tar Heels as No. 1 in the conference in scoring 73 points a game, average margin over the opposition (10.1 points a game) and field goal accuracy 43.9 per cent. N.C. State is No. 1 in rebounding with 48.8 recoveries a game.

In the individual race, John Richter of N.C. State, York LaRue of North Carolina and Howard Hurl of Duke are locked in a torrid battle for the top honor.

Richter is averaging 17.2 points a game, LaRue 16.4 and Hurl 16.0. Maryland's Charlie McNeil ranks sixth at 13.8.

Brown Puts Title On Line Tonight

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI)—Cocky Johnny Busso spurred on by an earlier overweight triumph, gets his chance tonight to do what five other challengers have failed to accomplish—wrest the lightweight championship away from Joe (The Jolter) Brown.

Busso whipped Brown four months ago in Miami Beach, Fla., when the champ was more than five pounds over the 135 pound limit, but the oddsmakers are unanimous in their opinion that the brash young New Yorker can't do it again when the chips are high.

Brown, who won the title in August, 1956, from Wallace (Bud) Smith and defended it successfully against Smith in a rematch and against Orlando Zulueta, Joey Lopez, Ralph Dupas and Kenny Lane, was anywhere from a 7-5 to 13-5 choice depending upon where you bet.

The short priced odds were here on the battleground where 8,000 or more fans are expected to shell out some $60,000 to see the bout which will be televised nationally (ABC 10 p.m. e.s.t.) but blacked out within a 150-mile radius of Houston.

The dapper little Busso whose swaggering optimism bears the trademark of New York's East Side tenement section where he grew up, has made a very favorable impression on local observers and the odds were 3-1 that he'd go the route with the champ even if he loses.

It will be Busso's first title opportunity.

Four Youths Found Guilty Of Assault

Group Is Tried For Beating Of Zihlman Resident

Four area youths were found guilty yesterday afternoon in Trial Magistrate Court of the assault on Harry Lennox, 50, Zihlman, on January 27.

Gary Fuller, 19; Robert Fuller, 18; Thomas R. Perry, 20, and John J. Riley Jr., 18, were given suspended sentences of one month in Allegany County Jail and were fined $25 each.

Trial Magistrate Morris Baron, who heard the case presented by State's Attorney James S. Getty, also stipulated that the youths share the cost of the medical expenses incurred by the victim of the assault, who was confined to Miners Hospital in Frostburg for about a week.

In passing sentence Magistrate Baron said he will not tolerate "drunken gangs driving around the county." Testimony given by the four youths revealed they had been drinking during the day and were celebrating one of the youths' recent discharge from the Navy.

In the melee, Lennox suffered a mild concussion, facial injuries, and rib and kidney injuries, authorities said.

Constable Andrew Lennox, of Mt. Savage, brother of the victim, said his brother was backing his car onto State Route 36 when a group of youths pulled up in a car and blocked the driveway for no apparent reason.

Lennox told Constable Lennox he asked the youths to move the car, but two youths got out of the car and started to fight with him. A third youth joined the others and Lennox said he was forced to the ground where he was repeatedly kicked in the face, ribs and back.

Liller Gets Order From County Board

Chelsie A. Liller, Cresaptown, has been ordered by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to stop diverting water from a strip mining operation at Barton onto a road at Dogwood Flat.

The board received a complaint last week from Walter Miller of Dogwood Flat concerning the water drainage. Harry Skelly, county roads supervisor, investigated the complaint.

Ella Fitzgerald Rallies Last Part Of Bell Show

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI)—NBC-TV's Bell Telephone Hour offered a half-hour special over a full hour Tuesday night.

There was nothing very special about the first half of the show at all. It was concocted of some awfully doughy material—a section from the bloated Gershwin Concerto in F, some textureless and lesser Jerome Kern songs sung monotonously by Martha Wright and Russell Nype, and a squandering of Rise Stevens on two sluggish Victor Herbert pieces.

But magically, at the half-way mark the show began to flick off sparks. Ella Fitzgerald, working in tandem with Duke Ellington, appeared and after a slightly spitterish start really began gunning on "Do Nothing Till You Hear From Me." It was a slither—packed with feeling and flow—and when Miss Fitzgerald counterpunched with a luminous "I'm Beginning To See The Light," the Bell Hour had a small, compact, spectacular on its hands right there.

When Miss Fitzgerald is at the top of her game, she giants over everyone else and Tuesday night, despite some limp orchestral backing, she gianted.

Over its last 15 minutes the Bell Hour also scored—this time with a larker: The New York City Ballet's attack on George Balanchine's "Stars and Stripes." Melissa Hayden, Jacques D'Amboise and Ed Vella headed the labor force and although "Stars and Stripes" is not a very meaty dance piece, it is stuffed with bluster and high spirits and Tuesday night it was snapped off at the kind of rollicking clip rarely seen on television.

One further note about the show's production: It was clean and stylish and happily unencumbered with narration. John Hoppe's fanciful mobiles tied the segments together—and as they did in the first Bell show—and tasty additions they were.

Short Shots: Bob Hope's NBC-TV special Tuesday night was not a very robust entry, but his spoof of Beatniks—now, incidentally, referred to contemptuously by the hip set as "diddly boppers"—did contain several squirts of fun. The skit benefited considerably by the presence of Carol Hancy, a comic swivel of much lude.

Seven Young Men To Face Trials Friday

Group Is Charged With Burglaries Within County

Seven criminal informations charging seven young Frostburg and LaVale area men with four burglaries in recent months were filed yesterday in Allegany County Circuit Court by State's Attorney James S. Getty.

Filed with the informations were petitions from the seven defendants in which they waived their right to indictment by the April grand jury and requested immediate trials on criminal informations.

Getty said it is hoped that Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley will be able to hear the four cases Friday when he next comes here from Oakland to hold court.

Herman L. Garlitz, 25, of RD 2, Frostburg, is named in three of the criminal informations. He is charged with breaking into the Heiskell Motor Company in Frostburg last September 27 and again on September 20 and in the T-Bird Hot Rod Club at Clarysville on December 9.

Some $964.50 worth of automobile parts, accessories and tools were stolen in the three jobs, according to the informations. The biggest haul was $505.50 on September 27 at the Hot Rod Club and $175 in the second try at Heiskell's.

Ronald Lee Eisentrout and Raymond Ira Fleisher, both 18-year-old LaVale boys, also are charged in criminal informations with breaking into the T-Bird Hot Rod Club December 9.

Wayne McKenzie, 21, RD 2, Frostburg, is charged with participating in the first Heiskell burglary with Garlitz. All four of these defendants were apprehended by Trooper First Class Milton G. Harl.

Douglas "Lurly" Smith, 30, of LaVale; Charles Junior Crawford, 18, also of LaVale, and Fred Ronald Metzner, 20, Bradock Road, are all named in a criminal information which charges them with burglarizing the Oldtown High School January 15.

They are charged with theft of eight pairs of scissors, three pairs of pliers, a tape recorder, a waffle maker, a phonograph and $13 in cash. The total value of the stolen articles was listed at $400. They were arrested by Sgt. William F. Baker.

Automobile registrations went from 55,906,000 to 57,000,000 during 1958; truck registrations from 10,989,000 to 11,200,000 and buses from 268,000 to 270,000.

Delegate Moves To Halt Law Against Loan Firms

By LOUIS G. PANOS

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—A Baltimore delegate moved today to head off legislation which would require hundreds of savings and loan associations to become commercially insured to stay in business.

Del. Bacharach (D-Balto 5th) said he was calling for a study to determine whether more than 300 such associations could be insured by the State.

He introduced a resolution providing for the survey to be made by the Legislative Council, which screens legislative proposals between sessions of the General Assembly.

Former U. S. Sen. Millard E. Tydings announced last week he and a group of associates were forming an insurance firm to provide protection for investors in savings and loan associations which are not insured by Maryland firms or the government.

Two bills pending in the Legislature would require the associations to carry Maryland insurance if they do not carry Federal Home Loan Bank Insurance. One has been sponsored in the House by his stepson, Del. Joseph D. Tydings (D-Harford). The other has been introduced across the State House hall by Sens. Northrop (D-Montgomery) and North (D-Talbot).

These lawmakers say their legislation is aimed at companies which misleadingly advertise that their accounts are "insured." In some cases investigation has disclosed that the insuring firm is a foreign company which is not subject to Maryland law and does not have enough assets for adequate protection of its clients' investors.

John H. Coppage, deputy Maryland insurance commissioner, describes the pending legislation as "a left-handed approach," to the problem. He considers the Northrop-North bill better than the Tydings bill, however, because it provides for some regulation of advertising even by locally insured firms and carries penalty clauses for violations.

"But the best approach would be a bill setting up overall regulation of savings and loan associations," he said.

Maryland is the only state without such regulations, Coppage said. Bacharach said uninsured savings and loan associations do a $400 million dollar a year business in Maryland and have a relatively good security record. The compulsory insurance bills would penalize them, he said, because they "weren't fortunate enough" to be included among the limited number of firms which can receive federal insurance protection.

The Baltimore delegate said Ohio has successfully operated a State-insurance plan for associations and he hopes a similar system can be adopted by Maryland.

An attorney, Bacharach represents three savings and loan associations.

College Dean Assumes Job

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—Dr. Robert Kirkwood, formerly associate professor of liberal studies at Clarkson College of Technology, has arrived at Washington College to assume his new duties here as Academic Dean.

Dr. Kirkwood, whose appointment was announced last fall by President Daniel Z. Gibson after confirmation by the college's Board of Visitors and Governors, began his duties this week at the Eastern Shore institution.

He has been a member of the Clarkson faculty since September, 1950, when he joined the staff as an instructor in Liberal Studies. He was promoted to assistant professor in July, 1952, and to associate professor in July, 1953.

Dr. Kirkwood, who is married and has two children, is a native of Maryland and was educated at the University of Maryland.

He was a member of the faculty at Washington College from 1947 to 1950, when he joined the staff as an instructor in Liberal Studies.

Symphony Has Youth Concert Series

Orchestra To Play At Fort Hill High Next Monday Night

If the audience at Fort Hill auditorium whistles and cheers following the performance of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra next Monday night, William Steinberg and the musicians won't mind a bit. Unbridled enthusiasm for performances of the Pittsburgh Symphony is encouraged and expected ever since the orchestra began playing the Young People's concert series.

This year, the Pittsburgh Symphony will play to more than 50,000 Pittsburgh-area youngsters ranging in age from three to twelve years old. In all, twenty-two separate concerts will be given through four sets of Young People's concerts and a pair of "Tiny Tot" programs.

In the YP series, the Pittsburgh Symphony plays five back-to-back pairs of concerts in Pittsburgh's huge Syria Mosque to an average audience of 3,000 young people. In the smaller Carnegie Hall, another 2,000 youngsters attend each of five pairs of concerts.

For the small fry of pre-school age, the Pittsburgh Symphony Symphonetta plays two concerts with the children sitting on the floor around the musicians.

The Young People's concert series and the "Tiny Tot" excursions are becoming so important in the cultural scheme of things around Pittsburgh that at least one metropolitan newspaper, the Pittsburgh Press, is printing a special "Symphony Preview" section for distribution to the schools. Study manuals and other program material is also printed and sent to the music teachers in the hundreds of schools which regularly send pupils to the concerts.

Young musicians are auditioned and have the opportunity to appear as soloist with the Pittsburgh Symphony in the YP series and a "guest chair" contest brings youngsters on stage to sit with the orchestra during performances.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, February 12, 1959

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries):—Your Mercury and Saturn in a generous aspect, favor sound matters, wholehearted and useful activities; also financial interest if handled sanely. Sudden changes not advised.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus):—Your planetary aspects are somewhat restrictive where personal gains or desires are concerned, but the day will be fine for humanitarian causes and for sound business ventures.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini):—This day's planetary influences after fresh incentive for you who are constructively busy, who think carefully as you work and don't waste time on non-essentials.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer):—Be sensible about your schedule. Attend to urgent matters first and don't put off what you can do now. Fine results from good work, deeds.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo):—Heart and family affairs, sound plans, necessary tasks and simple chores are favored now. Don't be curt or abrupt; others may be tired, irritated. Show your sunny nature.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo):—There is no need to rush or exhaust yourself; take activities, chores in stride. Especially favored: mechanical and technical work.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra):—A whole field of diversified interests and activities favored on this enlightening day. Trades, as well as the artistic and scientific professions, are cooperative, however.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio):—Professional folks and those in scientific fields are highly honored now; also mechanics, engineers, architects and builders. Avoid unprecipitated changes. Money interests good.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius):—Prospects good for advancement in well chosen endeavors, matters that suit your knowledge, ability. Avoid extravagance, however.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn):—Go along with daily tasks but avoid sharp retorts, hasty decisions. This day can be a highly satisfactory one, stimulating for essential work, sound investments, good deeds.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 21 (Aquarius):—Your planetary influences warn against drastic, unplanned changes or moves. Better go along with matters as they are.

FEBRUARY 22 to MARCH 21 (Pisces):—A splendid chance to complete tasks, to make improvements to better your status. Be careful in confidential matters. A pleasant outlook.

YOU BORN TODAY have the stamina to rise above humble beginnings, have a desire for knowledge that will give you varied fields in which to achieve. You can truly become a "master of your trade," proficient in whatever you do could be especially successful in teaching, scientific research or in artistic fields. Birthdate: Abraham Lincoln, 16th U. S. President. (King Features, Inc.)

They Say It Can't Be Done

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

If you don't want to believe this hand ever happened you are in full accord with me. Still it's a good story and if it did happen East and West are entitled to some sort of a prize for hard luck.

South started proceedings with a bid of two clubs only to be informed that it was West's turn to bid. West proceeded to open three hearts and North was barred from bidding. When it came around to South he could have doubled and picked up a nice little profit but he had visions of something much better.

Three no-trump was a spread but South wanted a slam and a no-trump slam looked impossible because he surely couldn't get to dummy. So South bid six spades!

East was too pleased with the contract to bother to double. All he did was pass like the cat that had just swallowed the canary.

West opened his king of hearts and South proceeded to wrap up his spade slam. All he had to do was take his ace of hearts and cash his ace-king-queen of clubs while poor East had to follow suit.

Then he simply cross ruffed hearts and diamonds while poor East under-ruffed.

Eventually East made his last trump, his only trick.

Local Firm Bids Low On Project

The Cumberland Contracting Company yesterday submitted the low bid of $212,638.25 for the improvement of U. S. Route 40 from Long to Winchester Road.

The only other bidder, the S. T. Brotemarkle Company here, offered to do the work for $217,910.75.

Bids on the project were opened yesterday by the State Roads Commission in Baltimore.

The project will include the grading, drainage and surfacing of 1.94 miles of the highway.

The Brotemarkle firm is now engaged in improving a .38 mile section of Route 40 from the Mt. Savage Road to Long.

The new project will carry the improved highway through La. Vale proper and to the Six Mile House.

Bill Sets Standards For Justices Of The Peace

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A bill to require that justices of the peace must have at least a high school education was introduced in the West Virginia Legislature today.

Another measure among three pertaining to JP's, introduced by Del. W. E. Chilton (D-Kanawha), would provide that an audit of civil cases handled by magistrates be made by the tax commissioner. The JP would be charged 10 cents for each case audited.

The bill provides that if any discrepancy were found in an audit, it would have to be reported to the circuit judge or county prosecutor of the area where the JP operates.

A third bill would require that a JP be a resident of his district two years before being eligible for election there.

Among 28 other bills introduced was an administration measure to liberalize benefits under the workmen's compensation program.

The bill, introduced by Minority Leader George Selbert (R-Ohio), would increase by $3 weekly minimum - maximum payments, raising them to $23-$36. It would also increase monthly benefits by $5 to $70 to widows and by $2.50 to dependent children. It would remove from present law a provision that an employer could raise a final medical award authorized by the commissioner.

The first public power supply system began in England in 1901.
